

Statewide Essential Business Designations – Updated April 13, 2020 – 5:00 pm EDT

USTMA has assembled this document to assist members in identifying and tracking information regarding statewide orders and essential business designations related to COVID-19. The tracker does not include information on orders adopted by cities, counties or other local jurisdictions. Some statewide orders may supersede local orders, while some specifically permit local jurisdictions to adopt orders that are more restrictive.

USTMA strives to assure the accuracy and completeness of this information, but given the fluidity of state activities, this tracker may not reflect the most current state information. As such, USTMA cannot guarantee the information; we encourage members to consult state and local government websites and resources for the most current information. Questions about interpretations of state guidance should be directed to state officials. It may also be advisable to consult legal counsel to determine how to best proceed with your company’s operations.

April 13 Update: New York: Governor Cuomo signed a new Executive Order on April 12 requiring all essential businesses to provide facial coverings to employees by 8:00 pm April 15 for use when exposed to the public; Tennessee order extended until April 30

New Jersey Executive Order No. 121 establishes operating procedures that essential businesses must follow if they continue to operate throughout the emergency:

1. Where an essential retail business is permitted to maintain in-person operations pursuant to Executive Order No. 107 (2020) and any subsequent Administrative Orders, such business must adopt policies that include, at minimum, the following requirements:
 - a. Limit occupancy at 50% of the stated maximum store capacity, if applicable, at one time;
 - b. Establish hours of operation, wherever possible, that permit access solely to high-risk individuals, as defined by the CDC;
 - c. Install a physical barrier, such as a shield guard, between customers and cashiers/baggers wherever feasible or otherwise ensure six feet of distance between those individuals, except at the moment of payment and/or exchange of goods;
 - d. Require infection control practices, such as regular hand washing, coughing and sneezing etiquette, and proper tissue usage and disposal;
 - e. Provide employees break time for repeated handwashing throughout the workday;
 - f. Arrange for contactless pay options, pickup, and/or delivery of goods wherever feasible. Such policies shall, wherever possible, consider populations that do not have access to internet service;
 - g. Provide sanitization materials, such as hand sanitizer and sanitizing wipes, to staff and customers;
 - h. Require frequent sanitization of high-touch areas like restrooms, credit card machines, keypads, counters and shopping carts;
 - i. Place conspicuous signage at entrances and throughout the store, if applicable, alerting staff and customers to the required six feet of physical distance;
 - j. Demarcate six feet of spacing in check-out lines to demonstrate appropriate spacing for social distancing; and
 - k. Require workers and customers to wear cloth face coverings while on the premises, except where doing so would inhibit that individual’s health or where the individual is under two years of age, and require workers to wear gloves when in contact with customers or goods. Businesses must provide, at their expense, such face coverings and gloves for their employees. If a customer refuses to wear a cloth face covering for non-medical reasons and if such covering cannot be provided to the individual by the business at the point of entry, then the business must decline entry to the individual, unless the business is providing medication, medical supplies, or food, in which case the business policy should provide alternate methods of pickup and/or delivery of such goods. Nothing in the stated policy should prevent workers or customers from wearing a surgical-grade mask or other more protective face covering if the individual is already in possession of such equipment, or if the business is otherwise required to provide such worker with more protective equipment due to the nature of the work involved. Where an individual declines to wear a face covering on store premises due to a medical condition that inhibits such usage, neither the essential retail business nor its staff shall require the individual to produce medical documentation verifying the stated condition.
